

In this issue:

Coemar iWash Halo lights the "Italian Triumph"

One million people at Circo Massimo of Rome to welcome the World Champions.

10th July 2006. In the impressive framing of the Circo Massimo, the first stadium in the world, built by the Roman Emperors and used by them for the horse racing, the World Football Champions received the warmest greetings of their life.

The event broadcast by RAI and Sky Sport, was realised also thanks to the rental company Di & Di Lighting of Rome.

30 Coemar iWash Halo were the bright stars of the night. The quality of light and colour perfectly suited to the TV application: the green, white and red colour created the Italian Flag, while the optical system of the projector together with the TXO Halogen lamp offered an extremely bright light output. The emission spectrum of TXO lamp allows to obtain saturated colours, mainly in red colour frequencies. iWash Halo is the brightest light of its class.

Coemar's staff invite you to subscribe to the new CoemarNews. If you have been forwarded this email from a friend or colleague and wish to subscribe yourself directly, please register on our web site <http://www.coemar.com/newsletter.asp>

UNSUBSCRIBING This email has been sent by Coemar S.p.A. If you do not wish to received any further email communications from Coemar, please contact us at info@coemar.com placing the word "unsubscribe" in the subject heading.

Coemar and the Coemar light emotion logo are worldwide registered trademarks of Coemar S.p.A.